Can I still use Workzone in my Server instance?

Hopefully you are aware of the depreciation of Bitbucket Server app licenses as of 15th of February 2023 (more: Atlassian Server end of life (sale/support) information). If you are not yet transitioning over to Bitbucket Cloud or DataCenter, you will still be able to continue using, renew and update your Workzone app in your Bitbucket Server instance.

You can continue to use Workzone with your current Workzone server license until 15/Feb/2024 - You can still obtain a Workzone license, and receive updates and new features as you are used to.

We have tested these steps internally and confirmed that you are able to

1. Install the Datacenter version of Workzone into Bitbucket server (the Workzone server and Datacenter artifacts are binary identical)
2. Obtain a DataCenter license for our Workzone app, and assign it to your Workzone installation. You can match the Workzone DataCenter license user count with your current active user count in Bitbucket Server.

It is also worth mentioning that Workzone is also available for Bitbucket Cloud. If you require any support with transitioning to Bitbucket Cloud, or converting your Workzone Server license to a Data Center license key, please let us know by creating a support ticket.

Try Workzone!
